REGISTRATION IS NECESSARY

You have a date with your country on August 19, 20 or 21. Do not neglect it. There are penalties involving fine and imprisonment, but no one should be penalized for neglect.

If you are absent from home at that time, register at the nearest point of registration. The registrar will forward your answers to the proper designation.

Answer the questions definitely, especially 14 to 17. These deal with the question of your present employment and capacity for other work. Your answers may be helpful to you as the demand for labor increases. National production for war purposes means demand for more men and women.

The following have been appointed deputy Yogatāras for Blairstown: S. G. Bannon, Miss C. Fleming, Donald MacPherson, A. H. "Sandy" Ferguson, J. E. Morgan, J. B. Harmer, J. P. O'Neill and Mrs. Fleming. We understand that registration will take place at both central and west end schools from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. during the three days. Elsewhere in this issue will be found the questions to answer for registration purposes.

NEED OF CENTRE LINE ON ALBERTA ROADS

Put Alberta in step with other parts of the country, especially states south of the border.

Action along this line has been initiated by the Alberta Motor Association which has called upon the provincial government to make a start at the centre lining of main highways. The situation was discussed at a meeting of A.M.A. provincial directors at Edmonton recently, when board members from all parts of the province attended.

Finally, a resolution was passed urging the government to make an early start at marking a centre line on the main highways.

Members suggested that a start could be made on curves and hills, and the marking extended as rapidly as possible to other sections of the main highways system.

During the discussion, it was pointed out that visitors from the United States were quick to notice the indiscriminate driving all over the roads here, due to the absence of a centre line. This condition in Alberta also served to aggravate the driving menace.

A local father, visiting his son at the university, took the boy down to have his photograph taken. The photographer suggested that the son stand with his hand on his father's shoulder, but the father suggested it would be more appropriate if he stood with his hand in his father's pocket.

SAM GEBO PASSES IN SEATTLE HOME

Sam W. Gebo, who many years ago was interested in coal mining at Frank, died at Seattle recently at the age of 76. He was found dead in his home. Four unlighted gas burners had been turned on in a kitchen range. He had fallen near the stove, and before he was pronounced dead he had recently recovered from two serious operations.

Mr. Gebo was a former millionaire, and at one time the largest individual coal mine owner in the United States, operating largely in Montana and Wyoming, and has a town in each of these states named after him. He lost much of his money during depression years. He retired and had been living in Seattle for the past fifteen to twenty years.

He will be remembered by Frank old timers, he having resided there far back as thirty-five years ago.

POSTAL CONTACT WITH SWITZERLAND ESTABLISHED

Red Cross National Headquarters announces re-establishment of postal communications with Switzerland, which makes it possible to handle inquiries for relatives in enemy or enemy-occupied parts of Europe, and prisoners-of-war in European countries.

If you wish to make such inquiries, notify Red Cross Divisional Headquarters at Calgary, stating with whom you wish to get in contact. You will then be given the proper forms and instructions concerning the filling out of same. In all cases you must deal first with your divisional headquarters direct, or through one of its branches.

International Red Cross committee members will accept inquiries by cable, providing replies can be sent "collect," only concerning prisoners of war or very urgent civilian cases.

Officials were: Eddie Burton, Jim McNab and Bert Connally, rodeo judges; Pete Legrandeur, rodeo director; H. Bosseberry, and Jack Eddy, race judges; Clyde Conroy, starter; Wilbur Lang, race director.

International Reply Coupons cost 12 cents at any post office.

DON'T LET YOUR MEN DOWN

The civilian population have a most important duty to perform in this war, and that is to keep their courage as high as that of the fighting troops.

We in Canada have not had much experience of war; but in the few we were in our fighting men made a very excellent job of their end of things. And it can certainly be said that they didn't let their home folks down.

We are now in another war. It is one in which the enemy is leaving nothing undone to debase and demoralize the home folk. Knowing that, and remembering that the job of our sailors, our soldiers and our airmen needs all their concentration on the task at hand, the very least they have a right to expect from you is that, in your turn, you don't let your fighting men down.

You don't belong to the breed which lets itself be panicked by the bluster and the bragging and the hogey-man threats of these teutonic tin-men, scarecrows and cowardly lions, by the hysterical screeches of beer-hall Nazis.

You have lots of stuff that the Nazis don't have. The main element of that is Liberty. Fight to retain it—and you will—Ex.

OUR ENGLAND

We must stand up for England,
This great land of our birth,
And give this Mr. Hitler
Hell, on sea, air and earth.

He'll never beat this England,
Not with all his Jerry Planes,
We'll smash him up, this silly pup,
Till he gives back his gains.

We shall always have an England,
Yes, we'll fight with every ounce,

It's the spirit of the English

In the end that always counts.

We've fought with cleaner fighters
Than Mr. Hitler ever saw,
And we'll fight these dirty blighters
To win this insane war.

We must protect our England,
As our fathers did before,
For Hitler's like some apples,
(He's rotten to the core).

BREAD

lays the Foundation for

Canadian Health and Fitness

MORE THAN any other single food, bread has helped to give Canada a high health record.

Bread is viewed as the best source of human fuel. It is rich in carbohydrates and, made with milk—as is usual today—is also an important source of protein... A source equal to meat in muscle building and muscle repair.

Canadians get one-fourth of their food energy from bread! Eat more of it and keep fit for present-day emergencies!

WORLD HAPPENINGS
BRIEFLY TOLD

The Canadian model airplane flying record was broken at Vancouver by a plane that flew for seven minutes and 40 seconds—and kept right on going out to sea.

Vancouver's elementary air training school has opened, 11 months ahead of schedule, and 24 tyro pilots began preliminary instruction. More will arrive shortly.

The officers of state responsible for care of the Scottish crown regalia met recently for the first time in 110 years because of the present emergency.

Governor-General Pierre Ryckmans expressed the inexorable determination of the Belgian Congo to stand by Britain until victory is achieved.

The Canadian government has no information on the wheat holdings in Canada or the British government. E. E. Perley (Con., Qu'Appelle) was informed in a return tabled in the House of Commons by Agricultural Minister Gardiner.

The "Silver Trail" drive at Victoria, B.C., added $12,119 to the amount collected toward the city's campaign to buy training planes, totalling $25,479, more than half the $50,000 objective, officials of the Menasco Manufacturing Company, Los Angeles.

Vice-Admiral E. A. Taylor, member of parliament for South Paddington, was recalled to active duty. He was captain of the battle cruiser Renown during the 1919 Canadian tour of the Prince of Wales. He retired in 1924.

A Different Approach

Young Salesman Used New Method To Interest Customers

She opened the door suspiciously and when she saw on the step a cheerful young man with a suitcase in his hand she began to close it again.

"One moment, madam!" he exclaimed. "I am not an insurance canvasser, and I don't want to sell you toilet preparations, stockings, books, or, indeed, anything of that sort."

She hesitated, the door half closed. He continued earnestly: "I do not represent a sewing-machine company or one selling gramophones or electric cleaners."

The door began to open again.

"I am neither collecting rates nor asking subscriptions for a charity—I find it hard enough to make a living for myself."

Those assurances had their effect, and she opened the door wide.

The young man continued eagerly. "I am not seeking your support for any political party or any other organization."

"What in the world!" she said, "do you want, then?"

The young man smiled engagingly.

"Ah-ah!" he exclaimed. "I see that I have interested you. I represent a firm which deals in photographic enlargements."—London Tit-Bits.

Learn To Speak English

British Refugees From Devastated Countries Have To Brush Up On Language

Thousands of British people, now refugees in their own country, cannot speak English. Forced to flee to England because of war, they had lived in other countries so long that they forgot their native tongue.

A member of an organization designed to help them—the British War Refugee Fund—said that many of them held responsible positions with high incomes in Belgium, Holland and Germany.

More than 500 had hurried home from Germany on the outbreak of war and they have since been joined by 5,000 from Holland and Belgium. Already many refugees are attending a special English language class.

Louis E. Worden, a stationary engineer of Middlebury, Vermont, delights in doing a bit of knitting. His latest creation is a miniature locomotive, fashioned in yarn and complete in every detail except that it has no bell.

Peaceful Place Now

But First Governor Of Bahamas Had Pirates To Fight

When the Duke of Windsor becomes Governor of the Bahamas, he will use a great seal of office 222 years old that still reads: "Destroy the pirates, restore commerce."

According to modern tradition, the Duke will be greeted by a guard of native constabulary, a Boy Scout corps and enthusiastic townpeople.

In contrast to this reception, 1,000 pirates gathered to welcome Capt. Woods Rogers, the first governor, when he sailed into Nassau harbor one fine day in 1718 with a British war vessel and a small armed force. Rogers had gained some fame, before his appointment, by rescuing Alexander Selkirk, the real Robinson Crusoe, from the Island of Juan Fernandez.

For many years, pirates had used the intricate passages among the Bahama Islands for headquarters from which to make plundering forays on Spanish galleons richly laden with loot from Mexico and Peru. The Spaniards, in turn, retaliated with periodic raids on English settlements occasionally burning a few towns.

Rogers arrived with explicit instructions from the King to rid the island of these sea scavengers.

His mission amused the swaggering pirates who had either bribed or cowed private Bahama rulers and thus gained immunity from interference. So, resplendent in their stolen finery, they gathered in Nassau to carouse and meet this Governor who had been sent to destroy them.

Rogers, a reformed buccaneer, adopted diplomacy and a stern courage. He offered full pardons to those pirates who would mend their ways, and many accepted. The recalcitrants received summary treatment.

Eight ringleaders were hanged in one day at a spot now known as Execution Dock. Some died in haste. The pirate era ended.

In contrast, there is a serene colony that the Duke of Windsor will govern. Tourist is the principal industry. Some 18,000 visitors arrive annually on cruise ships and yachts, by airliner and steamship from Miami.

COOL, SLIM FROCK FOR MATRONS

By Anne Adams

Women "in the know" of fashion realize that a combination of unctuous lines and subtly slimming details spell distinction. A point beautifully expressed by Anne Adams in pattern 4340. The gown has a slim line and the smart skirt which is in good style. What an enchanting and unexpected curve the front neckline makes—so becoming! Gentle turns at the waistline and just above the waistline keep softness in through the bustline. Have the sleeves short or, if you prefer, make the three-quarter sleeves with their flowing bands for a different effect. This simple, distinguished frock comes in evening length too.

Pattern 4340 is available in misses' and women's sizes 18, 20, 24, 26, 30, 32, 42 and 44. Size 36 taken 4% yards 39 inch fabric.

Senty twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps can be accepted for this) Adams pattern. Write, please, Name, Address and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newsprint Co., 176 McDermott Ave., E., Winnipeg.

I Read --- And Write --- For You

By JOHN C. KIRKWOOD

The absurdity of the hullabaloo over women's解放 is shown by the fact that in a recent census decade the percentage of women gainfully employed increased by just one per cent.

Men—and women—who apply, with letters, for positions, usually write very, very bad letters. As a rule the second paragraph of their letter is a repetition of their personal history. They seem to feel that the person or firm addressed wants, at the very beginning, to know all about them, especially for employment. What employers want from those who are seeking a position is a very positive and interesting statement concerning the individual's ability to contribute something of value to the firm or institution if he (she) be employed. Personal particulars should be left to last, and then, if necessary, the letter may add a short sentence.

Here is an illustration of what a good letter is. It was written by a young man who was seeking a position with a company.

"I am now treasurer-controller in an old well-known company grown complacent. Combining technical competence in my field, with a rather extensive experience in financial management, I have secured uncommon results in budgeting, costs, taxes and managerial accounting, serving in various capacities from $10,000,000 to $40,000,000."

Capitalizing on a finance officer's unique opportunity to diagnose and prescribe, I have successfully sponsored a number of 'sleepers' in the line, have developed personnel policies, have eliminated waste, and have made many successful management surveys of offices, plants and manufacturing concerns at home and abroad. My record will survive the closest scrutiny."

Not a word in this letter about his value to the company. When these were set forth on a separate sheet, his main letter concentrated on giving those addressed a picture of his value, showing what he could do if he were employed. The effort in his letter was to lead the reader of it to say, "Here's a man who would be very valuable to us."

We in Canada estimate the value of the tourist industry to Canada to

Men's Response Over Recruiting Exceeds Hopes Says Defence Minister

Defence Minister J. L. Ralston said at a press conference that response to recruiting in Canada had been "even beyond expectations" and that the response of Canadians to the nation's war effort in general had been unstinted.

"I think every appeal to the public has been met. There has been no shirking, no holding back. Sometimes the public has taken upon itself and carried out what really was only a suggestion."

They carried their find back to the superintendent's office and before his fire thawed it out. When the letter had become a limp and steaming thing Jim stripped the flap of the envelope and carefully withdrew its contents.

Dear Mr. Harlow:

I am afraid I must disappoint you. I am in such a position, being a convict on license, that I cannot afford to take the right side. I will tell you frankly that what I have in my mind is that this may be a frame-up organized by my friends the police. I will do my best to say the least, foolish on my part to go any further until I know your requirements, or at least have written to you that you have approached me.

Yours sincerely,

ARTHUR INGLE.

The two men looked at one another.

"That beats the hand," said Elk. "What do you make of it, Carlton?"

Jim stood with his back to the fire, the letter in his hand, his brow wrinkled in frown.

"I don't know * * * let me try now * * * Harlow asked Ingle to meet him; I knew that already, Ingle promised to go, changed his mind and wrote this letter, which has obviously never been opened by Harlow, and as obviously could not have been delivered to him before the interview, because, as I know—and I had a cold in the head to prove it—these two fellows met opposite the Horse Guards Parade and went riding round the park for the greater part of an hour. Supposing Harlow is concerned with the slaying of this wretched woman—and why he should kill her heaven knows!—would he carry about this unopened letter and leave it for the first flat-footed policeman to find?"

He sat down in a chair and held his head in his hands, and presently:

"I've got it!" he said, his eyes blazing with excitement. "At least, if I haven't got the whole story, I know at least one thing—poor Mrs. Gibbons was very much in love with James Smith the plate-layer!"

Elk stared at him.

"You're talking foolish," he said.

CHAPTER XII.

Aileen Rivers had made one attempt to see her relative. She called up, and when on the telephone and asked if she might call.

"Why?" was the uncompromising question.

Only a very pressing cause would have induced the girl to make the attempt—a fact which she conveyed to Ingle in the next sentence.

"I've had a big bill sent to me for the redecoration of your flat. You remember that you wished this done, Mr. Ingle. The decorators hold me responsible!"

"Send the bill to me; I'll settle it," he interrupted.

"I'm not sure that all the items are exact," she began.

"It doesn't matter," he broke in again. "Send me the bill; I'll settle it. Good morning."

She hung up with a little smile, relieved of the necessity for another interview.

There were times when Aileen Rivers was extremely grateful that no spot of Mr. Ingle's blood ran in her veins. He had married her mother first cousin, and the circular relationship was largely a complimentary one. She felt the need of emphasizing this fact upon Jim Carlton when he called that night—a very welcome visit, though he made it clear to her that the pleasure of seeing her again was not his sole object.

He had come to make inquiries which were a little inconsequent, she thought, about Mrs. Gibbons. He wanted to know if you'd go round after dinner and take a letter.

"Why, certainly, Mr. Stebbings," she said, surprised that he should be so apologetic.

"He is not a client of mine now, as I think I've told you before," the stout Mr. Stebbings went on, addressing the chandelier. "And I don't know that I should wish for him to be a client either. Only—"

"Mr. Harlow?" she gasped, and he brought his gaze down to her level.

"Yes, Mr. Harlow, 104 Park Lane. Do you mind?"

She shook her head.

"No," she said. "She had a struggle before she could agree. "Why, of course I'll go. At what hour?"

"He suggested 9. I said that was rather late, but he told me that he had a dinner engagement. He was most anxious," said Mr. Stebbings, his eyes returning to the Adam ceiling. "That this master should be kept as quiet as possible."

"What master?" she asked wonderingly.

"I don't know" — Mr. Stebbings could be exasperatingly vague — "I rather fancy it may have been the contents of the letter; or, on the other hand, it may have been that he did not wish anybody to know that he had a letter of such importance as would justify the calling in of a special stenographer to deal with it. Naturally I told him he might rely on your discretion. . . . Thank you, that is all."

She went back to her little room with the disquieting thought that she was committed to spend an hour alone with a man who on his last appearance had filled her with terror. She wondered whether she ought to tell Jim Carlton, and then she saw the absurdity of telling him every petty circumstance of her life, every coming and going. She did not tell Mrs. Harlow, though she even suspected that her friend might be being responsible for the attack which had been made upon him in Long Acre; and she was the last to tell her prejudices. There were times when she allowed herself the elation of thinking that Jim leaned a little toward sensationalism.

So she sent him no message, and at 9 o'clock was ringing at the door of Mr. Harlow's house.

She had not seen him since he came to the flat. Once he had passed her in his coupe, but only Jim had recognized him.

Aileen was curious to discover whether she would recover that impression of power he had conveyed on the night of his call; whether the same little thrill of fear would set her pulses beating faster—or whether the proportions of some one who was just removed from the commonplace. (To Be Continued)

Typical of The British

London Paper Wanted Instructive Or Amusing Air Raid Stories

That British humor survives the darkest crisis to brighten the day, is clinched by the following notice appearing on the front page of a copy of the "Evening News," published in Glasgow, Scotland, and dated June 26:

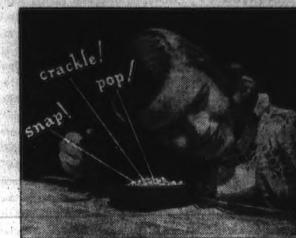

"The Evening News invites its readers to submit stories of last night's air raid. The stories should be instructive or amusing."

A combination gas mask and telephone has been invented for firemen working inside burning buildings.

NO COOKING NEEDED! Once upon a time, Clara May used to scowl at her breakfast. But that was before she heard the pop-crackle-snap of Rice Krispies. Now she delightedly dug into a big bowlful of these golden rice bubbles every morning!

Every day thousands tune-in the "crispness chorus" . . .

As the cream pours on, Rice Krispies crackle and pop every morning in homes from Halifax to Vancouver. They're favourites with children . . . with their mothers . . . and with barrel-chested he-men, too! Tests have proved they stay crisp in milk or cream for hours! ### Farmers Make Contribution

Calls For Battle For New Agricultural Policy For Canada

"By producing below the cost of production for the first nine months of the war, farmers have already made the greatest contribution to this war of any industrial class or group in the country," Herbert H. Green, Vice-President of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, declared at Hamilton.

He called upon farmers to "battle for a new national policy for agriculture in this Dominion" in the face of "disappearing markets and depressing surpluses."

Mr. Hannan appeals to almost 100 county farm leaders, co-operative growers' officials at the summer meeting of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, at Hamilton.

He called upon farmers to "battle for a new national policy for agriculture in this Dominion" in the face of "disappearing markets and depressing surpluses."

"We have a surplus of something over 20,000,000 pounds of bacon, which surplus has depressed our hog prices during the past few months. And we have the prospect of a still greater surplus by the first of October."

"Our grain elevators are nearly full of wheat. If we take an average crop this fall there is space for the surplus, but we can only store one-third of it. Ways and means must be found of handling these surpluses and of holding up farm prices and stabilizing them at a figure which will be remunerative to our farm producers."

"Not to do it," Mr. Hannan declared, "is to invite consequences which will be serious to the whole economic and social life of this country."

Their Favorite Hymn
Sheriff Joseph W. Harding, discussing the religious services held at the county jail in Hartford, Conn., revealed the inmates' favorite hymn was "Open Wide the Gates." "They sing it with robust enthusiasm," he said.

India's Treasure Houses

Wealthy People Invest Spare Money In Jewels and Ornaments

Lady Lillithong's appeal to the women of India for gold and silver ornaments on behalf of wartime auxiliary activities may have tremendous results. Even now Indians as a body have little faith in banks as we understand them. The banker to them is a lender of money, not its trustee or custodian; so they still regard the historic method of investing spare wealth in spécie and particularly in ornaments for their women folk.

Each rajah or nawab of importance has a treasure house as part of his inheritance, and although an educated man of affairs may have great investments in securities, the treasure houses with the contents remain intact. What wealth is stored in India in these various forms no man knows. But when gold went up in price more than £500,000,000 worth appeared, as it were from nowhere, to be melted down as bullion.

HOME SERVICE

TELL ROMANTIC FORTUNES TO DELIGHT YOUR CROWD

Read Secrets in the Cards

No one will ever say YOU give poky parties if you can amuse your guests with fortune-telling.

Everyone adores card fortunes and the gypsies who draw them are tall, when you know the meanings of the suits.

Hearts are romantic cards and the gypsies who draw them always expect a proposal. Spades, alas, are unlucky! The King may mean that an older man will interfere in the romance causing a break.

But, turning to diamonds, you find wealth, good fortune. The Six means a gift of jewelry, perhaps the unlikely and most extravagant. Clubs stand for business. The Ace foretells a letter with good news, perhaps the offer of a good job—and we happily ever after.

The gypsies like te-leave, too, reveal secrets. A five-four in dominoes spells a surprise. A group of te-leaves shaped like a spoon means good luck. A fan of te-leaves means parties.

Find out more about these and other exciting fortunes from our 32-page book! Give the meaning of the card to the deej, and she'll tell fortunes with dominoes, dice and te-leaves. Has a horoscope for each month, tips on "crystal gazing," card games, and more.

Conditions Were Difficult

South African Town Is Proud Of Self-Supporting Men

A self-supporting man is the boast of Bridgewater, South Africa. When workmen started to repair a building wrecked by a cyclone a week before they found in one remaining corner a white leghorn hen in good health, except for slight lameness. She had been saved by an automobile tire that formed a lean-to. Within half an hour she laid an egg, which she promptly began to eat, solving the riddle of food and water under difficult conditions.

Committees For Armed Forces
Some indication of the extent of the purchases necessary to maintain the armed forces is revealed in figures showing that up to June 1 some four million units of commodities, including blankets, boots, braces, housewives, shirts, socks, blouses and trousers, were ordered by the Department of Munitions and Supply and delivered to Army, Navy and Air Force stores.

NATIONAL COMMISSION OF
RED CROSS BROADCASTS

Following is the address given over the air last week by Dr. F. W. Routley, national commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

"In introducing 'The Voice of Red Cross' as a regular weekly broadcasting feature, may I first of all offer sincere thanks to the radio stations of Canada for making this time available, and for all the deep interest which the whole personnel connected with radio activities in Canada are manifesting in the work of the Red Cross.

"The story of the activities of the Red Cross during the past ten months is one which cannot be too often reiterated to the Canadian public. It is the story of the devoutly concerned efforts of hundreds of thousands of Canadian women, the profound interest of scores of thousands of Canadian men, and the keen support of over four hundred thousand Canadian boys and girls who are members of Junior Red Cross.

"Of the five million dollars contributed voluntarily by the Canadian people last November to Red Cross, seven hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars has been devoted to carrying on the splendid peace-time work which has been built up in Canada during the last twenty years. Nearly two million dollars has been devoted to the purchasing of materials for the making of all types of supplies which are the work of the hands of over nine thousand groups of women from coast to coast in Canada. Not one article of these supplies has ever been sold by the Canadian Red Cross Society. They have been freely given in millions, not only to our own Canadian men in arms, but also to the men of the British navy, the British Red Cross, the Finnish Red Cross, and the fighting forces of our allies. They were poured into warehouses overseas in thousands of cases during the months when very few war activities were evident. Some people in Canada wondered why they were being sent over so lavishly under such conditions. We felt sure they would be needed when the blitzkrieg came in May and these well-made Canadian supplies were given to the British Red Cross, the French, Belgian and Netherlands Red Cross societies for the relief of the terrible suffering caused by this great tragedy, the truth of our forecast was made manifest. Two hundred thousand dollars has been given to the British Red Cross Society; one hundred thousand to the British Navy League, and one hundred thousand dollars to the French Red Cross to meet urgent demands which could not be supplied from this country; and in addition to this, one hundred thousand dollars was given to purchase food and other commodities here for the British Red Cross Society. One hundred and fifty thousand dollars was spent in the provision of supplies for the men of the navy from Canadian ports; seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars has been spent in the building and equipping of our six-hundred-bed hospital in England, which is being formally turned over to the Canadian government by the Right Honorable R. B. Bennett on Tuesday next—listen for a broadcast of it.

"In all of these activities less than five per cent has been spent on campaign and administration costs. This great work, we believe, commends itself to every public spirited Canadian."

Husband (looking over household accounts): "What is this item of fifteen shillings for overhead expenses?"

Wife: "Oh, that's a new umbrella I bought, dear. I left my old one on a bus."

"Papa, what is a traitor in politics?"

"A traitor is a man who leaves our party and goes over to the other one."

"Well, then, what is a man who leaves his party and comes over to yours?"

"A convert, my boy."

THE NAZI BLUFF
A MYTH EXPLODED

Above is the title of an eight-page pamphlet just issued through the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, of which Alex. Walker, of Calgary, is Dominion president. The introduction is worded as follows:

"The Nazis have not attacked Canada with warships and aerial bombs; but that does not mean that they are not vigorously waging war against us. They are. Not only are they doing so, but they have already invaded Canada. Their theatre of operations at this moment is on Canadian soil.

"The instrument of war which Hitler is using here is his Fifth Column. The purposes of the Fifth Column is to weaken the spirit of the civilian population of Canada, to stimulate doubts and fears in the mind of the ordinary citizens of this country, to enfeeble his will to resist, and thus impair the fighting efficiency of the Canadian sailors, soldiers and airmen whom it is the task and duty of the ordinary citizen to support and sustain.

"What this Fifth Column is, how it originated, and the manner in which it operates, are all set forth in this pamphlet. At the same time, the author, who writes under the pseudonym of 'Runnymede,' analyses with devastating effect the Nazi claim of invincibility for their armed forces. 'Runnymede' exposes this for the sham that it is.

"The members of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, in whose national official magazine, The Legionary, this article first appeared are glad to sponsor the reproduction and distribution, at their own expense, of this stimulating exposure of the Great Nazi Myth."

The author urges, not only members of the Legion, but all others whose this pamphlet reaches, to ensure for it the very widest distribution, for it is a patriotic duty to enlighten the uninformed among our people on the real facts of this present situation. "Runnymede" has contributed to that enlightenment, and the Canadian Legion, whose members "know their Germans" of old, endorse his sentiments to the full.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY OF THE 13th FIELD CO. R.C.E. FORMED

In March of this year a women's auxiliary of the 13th Field Company, R.C.E., was formed in Calgary, members being the wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of the men of the company. The purpose of the auxiliary is supplying the men of the unit with comforts while they are overseas, and to raise funds to enable the work.

Since organization, they have been fortunate in having the use of a church hall free of charge, where meetings are held once a month. Each member pays 10 cents monthly. There are now around fifty members on the rolls, and the number is increasing.

Various gifts of money and knitted garments have been acknowledged, and it is planned to send parcels of socks, sweaters, mitts, handkerchiefs, cigarettes and tobacco from time to time. There will also be a supply of chocolate bars for those who don't smoke. The W. L. Mackenzie Co. offer to send 1,000 cigarettes overseas for $2.50, or 300 for $1.00.

It would be appreciated if relatives or friends of any of the engineers living out of town could help either with knitted goods or a contribution for wool, smokes, etc., however small.

The auxiliary has 200 engineers to work for, and are anxious to do all in their power for the men of the unit. Parcels may be sent to Major Choate, the president, who will see that they are properly distributed. Address: 934 Eighth Avenue N.W., Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Dunkley and family, of Calgary, and Mrs. W. Dunkley and son Buddy, of Blairmore, visited the Olds Fair.—Olds Gazette.

Potential Weapons

Despite dire forebodings, promises and threats, the present war has progressed to within measurable distance of one year without the appearance on the scene of any entirely new destructive agency which would make combat between armed forces futile or impossible.

It is true that due to the greater use of mechanized equipment it has been possible to mete out death and injury to humans and destruction to property on a scale hitherto impossible, but that is the result of organization and improvement of implements and equipment which were known and in use in Great War No. 1. No new chemical or physical agency of destruction has been employed, so far as the general public is aware.

The only new device was heralded in advance by Hitler some time ago when he announced that he had something new and terrible with which he was going to sweep the British navy off the ocean. This bogey man later turned out to be the magnetic mine. Insofar as effectiveness was concerned it was more or less of a dud. The British speedily found methods of coping with it. Within a few weeks of its debut, the German navy had disappeared from the sea lanes with the exception of a few prowling submarines and the Royal Navy continued to patrol the high seas at will and enforce its blockade of supplies for the Hun.

Somewhat

This does not necessarily imply, of course, that science may not or will not reveal some secret which may place in the hands of one or other of the belligerents some new agency of immensely greater power or of much wider range than anything that has yet been employed in the science of warfare. If such an agency, that nothing could withstand it, is discovered, it is to be hoped that it will be discovered in Allied or friendly laboratories and that the most extraordinary precautions will be taken to see that it does not fall into the hands of the enemy, for the sake of the very existence of civilization.

In recent months there have been hints of two scientific discoveries, either of which, if capable of practical adaptation to the cause of Mars, could have an overwhelming effect on the course and probably the final outcome of the war. Both, or either, could be utilized as weapons of such tremendous scope and power that the implications of their potentialities as an agency of warfare can only inspire awe and terror, provided first published reports of these discoveries are not grossly exaggerated.

Fortunately, if there is any truth in these stories and if the reported discoveries are scientifically and economically feasible, the finds were made in the United States and it can be taken for granted that the authorities of that country will see to it that either of these secrets do not fall into German hands, lest it lead to their own undoing.

One of these is a so-called death ray which, according to newspaper reports is so powerful that it could be trained upon an aeroplane 250 miles away and at that distance could melt the plane's engine, causing immediate destruction to any aircraft which came within the scope of its range.

The other source of potential destruction is a new form of power which, according to the New York Times, is not far from perfection and which is so revolutionary that it ranks with the invention of the steam engine and later, with the discovery and invention of the principles underlying the internal combustion and Diesel engines.

Not Yet Certain

This new source of power, according to the New York Times, is a natural substance found abundantly in many parts of the earth which, when recently separated in its pure form for the first time at Columbia University, was discovered to be capable of yielding such energy that a pound of it is equal in power output to 5,000,000 pounds of coal or 3,000,000 gallons of gasoline.

All that is necessary to make this tremendous power available to the use "or abuse" of mankind is an improvement in the method of extraction, it is said.

For generations physicists and scientists have dreamed of the possibility of converting the cheap and plentiful energy of the sun into a source of almost unlimited power for the general use of humanity, but so far no economically feasible method of doing so has been found. Perhaps the same fate is in store for the new discovery hailing from Columbia's laboratories. Perhaps it would be just as well if that final step remains unsolved until the war is over, in case the secret gets into the wrong hands to the overwhelming disadvantage of the Allied cause.

Cheque Presented To Hospital As An Endowment

A $100,000 cheque has been presented to the Cedars of Lebanon hospital in Hollywood as an endowment for perpetuation of the memory of Will Rogers.

Jean Hersholt, actor-president of the motion picture relief fund, presented the gift to the hospital president, Samuel Goldwater, at a dinner attended by civic leaders, motion picture notables and other friends of the cowboy humorist.

Ten hospital beds for indigent actors will be maintained by the endowment, part of which will be used to supplement other funds for construction of a $250,000 clinic to operate in conjunction with the hospital.

Stratosphere Flight

Trans-Canada Air lines will replace their fleet of Lockheed's next year, it was learned at Ottawa. Stratosphere planes might be used on some flights, rocketing from Montreal to Vancouver in about 11 hours. The present time is 17 hours.

Long Record Of Service

Scheme For Canada's Government Annuities Started 32 Years Ago
Canada's government annuities, today a big business with the Dominion, a business which forms part of the working capital of the country has celebrated 32 years of service to Canadians.

The scheme was first suggested by the late P. C. Larkin in a letter to the late Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier in a letter dated July 5, 1904, and mailed from Upper Egypt, where Mr. Larkin was on holiday. Two years later the act which authorizes issue of government annuities became law.

It was not until 1928, however, that the annuity branch shed its swaddling clothes and started out to become a real force in the business life of the Dominion. Hon. Peter Hoenan, then minister of labor, made special efforts to bring the system to the attention of the Canadian people. Some 40 agents, trained for the work under E. G. Blackader, branch superintendent, were placed at points across Canada, among them A. E. Milton, who was appointed regional agent in 1929, with headquarters in the post office building.

The results of this procedure started the business world of Canada. In a single year the business done increased 300 per cent. In 1935 another definite increase was made under the direction of the late Hon. Norman Rogers, then minister of labor and in 1936-37 contributions totalled 7,600,000 and for the fiscal year totalled $23,614,928.

Money received on account of the purchase of government annuities is deposited in the consolidated revenue fund of Canada and forms an integral part of the working capital of the Dominion.

Now Work in Factories

London's Errand Boys And Girls Have Practically Disappeared

London's perky errand boy has virtually disappeared. When he does come whistling along the path, or is engaged in checking a policeman, he is generally the son of the small shop proprietor marked down to succeed his dad, and in some cases assisting his mother, the dad having more serious uniformed business in hand. The errand boy has now gone into the factories, and he seems to have taken his sister with him, for errand girls are almost as scarce as their brothers.

The errand boy with his bicycle or tricycle was the small shopkeeper's standby. The big stores always had their delivery vans and carmen. But customers are sympathetic and helpful, and the rule is "cash and carry" for the London housewife's sugar and bacon, as well as for American munitions.

Canucks For French Warships

According to Canadian Naval Headquarters, it is possible some officers of the Royal Canadian Naval Cadets Reserve, now at Borden, England, at the disposal of the British Admiralty, may be assigned to French warships taken over by the Royal Navy. These officers were recently recommended for "keenness and bearing."

Skilled Loggers

The 2,150 skilled loggers from Newfoundland, now cutting pine logs in Scotland's lumber camps, are to have special lapel badges bearing the inscription "Newfoundland Forestry Unit."

AIR RAIDS ON NAZI TERRITORY PROVE EFFECTIVE

London.—The British Air Force, in repeated attacks against German and German-occupied countries, has made it "extremely difficult" for the Reich to organize mass attacks on Britain from existing airfields and bases she "hoped to establish" just across the English channel and the North sea, an informed British source said.

More than 1,000 British attacks in the last three months have "to a great extent succeeded in breaking down the scheme Germany hoped would culminate in devastating attacks on these islands following her sweeping victories" on the continent, it was stated.

In the period between June 1 and July 1 alone, the R.A.F. made 377 bombing raids on targets within the Reich itself.

This source said important military and industrial objectives had been struck daily and nightly, "not in isolated raids but by aircraft in large scale operations."

The raids, he said, were planned to cause "the greatest possible destruction to the enemy's vital war supplies" and make new air bases "acquired nearer our shores practically untenable."

They have "made the enemy realize that if our air force is numerically inferior to his own, it is vastly superior in both machines and personnel," he declared.

British raids, it was said, "have made it extremely difficult for Germany to organize massed attacks on this country from airfields in Holland, Belgium and France, or from bases the enemy hoped to establish in Norway."

From the first day of Germany's blitzkrieg on the continent, this source said the Royal Air Force "to a great extent succeeded in breaking down the scheme Germany hoped would culminate in devastating attacks on these islands following her sweeping victories."

Between May 10 and June 17, he reported, there were 416 big raids on German territory, and in exactly a month since the capitulation of France 517 "thrusts" were made against Germany's main military and industrial centres.

In addition to targets on land the German navy has been attacked 65 times since the start of the war and 64 raids were made on Norway while British troops were there.

The informant reported an analysis showed raids on 161 industrial points, 229 on airfields, 256 on military objectives and 276 on enemy communications, and said there was "ample proof" that the R.A.F.'s "violent, non-stop onslaughts . . . are making the enemy reel under hammer blows."

Plug Oil Shipments

Take Measures To Stop Oil Supplies Going To Germany

London.—The British government was reported to be taking action to plug a gap in its blockade of Germany by preventing shipment of oil supplies to the Reich through Spain.

Minister of Economic Warfare Hugh Dalton, scheduled to make an "important statement" on the blockade before parliament, was expected to refer specifically to the question of oil shipments to Germany by way of Spain.

The Financial Times said the British government "will want definite assurances from Spain that oil supplies do not go to Germany."

U.S. Conscription Program

400,000 Conscripts To Start Training Soon

Washington.—Registration under the pending United States conscription program has been set tentatively for Sept. 1, it was said, with the first 400,000 conscripts expected to start training a month later.

Although congress has yet to act on the necessary legislation, a war department official disclosed that agencies in the 48 states already have begun preparations for the selective service plan. The initial trainees probably will be chosen from men between 21 and 31 years old.

Real Facts For France

London.—The practice of dropping leaflets over France "to convey to the French people the real facts of the situation" will be continued and extended. Alfred Duff Cooper, minister of information, informed the House of Commons.

Army Huts

Change To Be Made For Housing Men At Training Centres

Ottawa.—All members of the Canadian Active Service Force in training in Canada will be housed at their training centres in permanent army huts by the end of the month, it was stated at defense headquarters.

Up to now a large amount of the force has been under canvas and the change is being made possible by a hurry-up job of hut building by the engineering service which has completed 802 huts during July with accommodation for 36,732 soldiers. These huts added to those previously built will be sufficient to house the entire force.

The huts are large substantial buildings, generally 120 feet long and 24 feet wide and 17 feet high to the top of the pitched roof.

It takes 1,000,000 feet of lumber to build huts sufficient to house a battalion of 1,000 of all ranks. To provide accommodation for 36,732, exclusive of kitchens, will use up during this month somewhat more than 30,000,000 feet of lumber.

"We are combing the country for suitable lumber," said an official. "We shall have to transport considerable from British Columbia when we start a large program to provide winter quarters for the active militia."

As a result of the order of June 28, the following huts will be completed this month: Camp Borden, Ont., 349, accommodating 16,184; Petawawa, Ont., 165 accommodating 7,072; Valcartier, Que., 148 accommodating 6,120; Shilo, Man., 105 accommodating 4,760; Danduram, Sask., 32 accommodating 1,600.

Protecting Airdrome

Canadian Troops In England Are Placed On Guard

London.—Somewhere in England, several hundred Canadian troops guard an airfield from which one of the Royal Canadian Air Force squadrons now in England.

The battle-thirsty Canadians are a cog in a broad scheme worked out for defence of the airports that dot this embattled island. Officials are mindful of the way German paratroopers and troops borne in man-moth transport planes swooped on airports in Norway and Holland during the invasion of those countries.

Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton spelled off a strong formation from Canadian active service reserve units to guard and defend the droves on which the army co-operation squadrons under Squadron-Leader W. D. Van Vliet, Winnipeg, is poised for action. Major C. Mathewes, Sterling, Ont., commands the force, which is composed of men representing every combat unit in the Canadian 1st Division.

Aided by civilian labor, the troops constructed blockhouses, earthworks and other fortifications around the field. Behind thick walls sentries stand to around the clock, ready to bring their automatic arms into play and to flash the alarm if invaders attempt to storm the airfield.

Such a warning signal would bring into action strong reinforcements from C.S.F. combat units encamped only a few miles away.

The British always were a free people and our freedom will be maintained, as it was purchased, by the valiant courage of our youth.

"We sent the ships to the warriors of the air in such condition that they could not match, either for speed or for armor or for firing power."

HEAVY INCREASE IN U. S. PLANES GOING TO BRITAIN

London.—Lord Beaverbrook told Great Britain that enormous help in aeroplanes and engines is coming from the United States to bolster the home industry which is giving ships "to the warriors of the air in such condition that they have no match."

He said the United States government has accepted a plan under which production for British account can reach a total of 3,000 planes a month. Further, his department, the ministry for aircraft production, has bought 12,115 American aeroplane engines which will be fitted in Britain into British-built planes.

"I have just received a telephone message from Mr. Morris Wilson, who is the agent of the aircraft ministry in the United States and Canada," he said. "He is authorized to say to me by Mr. Morgenthau, secretary of the treasury, that the United States government will approve a plan to put into immediate production for our account up to a total output of 3,000,000 planes."

"These planes will be developed without delay and will be available to the present American program."

The Canadian-born newspaper publisher said this supply "will fortify the resistance and strengthen the endurance" of the empire's aircraft factory workers.

"But our real source of supply depends, as always, on our home production," he said. "Here we are doing better every day compared with last year. The week just out was a record production, and the month of July output of aircraft and engines is more than double the output of last July."

"It is our purpose, by every means we can develop and every device we can adopt, to give our air force bigger and better advantages when they come to grips with the enemy," he said.

He pledged to the empire the determination and fortitude with which the aircraft industry will face the ordeal of battle and show once more "our magnificent history the same resources that built and equipped the ships that won the freedom of last July."

"Plots and crews of the fleet air arm, watchers over the highways by which Britain gets her foodstuffs and supplies, and the young adventurers, the lads of the Royal Air Force, are receiving good craft and have known how to make use of the weapons we have put into their hands."

"The British always were a free people and our freedom will be maintained, as it was purchased, by the valiant courage of our youth."

"We sent the ships to the warriors of the air in such condition that they could not match, either for speed or for armor or for firing power."

Mine U.S. Harbor

London.—The United States army plans to mine the approaches to New York harbor as soon as present practice manoeuvres are completed.

Pay French Soldiers

British Government To Pay Volunteers In Arms Against Germany

London.—The British government is arranging to pay the French volunteers under Gen. Charles de Gaulle, as well as the Poles and Czechs in arms here against Germany.

Sir Edward Grigg, under-secretary for war, told a questioner in the House of Commons that rates of pay are still to be decided. The Norwegian, Netherlands and Belgian governments are paying their soldiers themselves, he said.

Ans To Air Navigation

Ottawa.—Five new radio range stations have recently been completed, calibrated, and placed in operation on the Trans-Canada Air Lines, Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of munitions and supply announced. These new aids to air navigation have been opened at London, Windsor, Ont., Fort William, Charlottetown and Dartmouth, N.S.

Soldiers' Vote Not Taken

Ottawa.—Vote of the soldiers on active service will not be taken in the four by-elections to be held Aug. 19. Air Minister Power told the House of Commons. Electoral officials were of the opinion that it would be "utterly impractical" to set up the complicated machinery necessary to take the vote of men in England, Iceland, Greenland and scattered all over Canada, Mr. Power said.

QUEEN ELIZABETH VISITS SOLDIERS' CLUB

VICE-PRESIDENT

Henry A. Wallace, United States Secretary of Agriculture, was named by the Democratic Convention in Chicago to be the running mate for Franklin D. Roosevelt in the forthcoming Presidential elections.

B.C. Lumber Exports

Shipments To The United Kingdom Are Increased

Vancouver.—The shortage of ships available for British Columbia lumber exports, now overcome, is reflected by official figures of waterborne shipments from the province for the first six months of 1940, released here by the Pacific lumber inspection bureau.

Lumber exporters here announced that "a sufficiency" of ships had been made available for lumber shipments from here.

Total British Columbia foreign exports for the six months ended June 30, was 728,000,000 feet, compared with 688,000,000 in the last six months of 1939, and 597,000,000 in the first six months of last year. Shipments to the United Kingdom in the six months just ended were 447,000,000 feet, comparing favorably with 423,000,000 in the same period for 1939, but below the 541,000,000 total in the last six months of 1939.

Naval Losses

Britain Gives List Of Ships Lost Since Start Of War

London.—Britain has lost on battleship, two aircraft carriers and three cruisers among her larger naval units since the start of the war, the admiralty announced.

Other losses listed by the admiralty are: Four armed merchant cruisers, 26 destroyers, 11 submarines, 11 small naval vessels such as sloops, gunboats, minelayers and patrol ships, and 61 small auxiliary craft of many types which were pressed into war service from civilian ships.

Czecho-Slovakian Pilots

London.—Czecho-Slovak pilots, now in England, have already carried the war in the air into Germany. R. A. Butler, under-secretary of state for foreign affairs, said in a broadcast reported in the British Broadcasting Corporation news summary.

The levy, effective immediately, applies to all existing contracts for future delivery of flour and other wheat products but should not, the minister said, require any change in the retail price of bread.

Most revolutionary feature of the new program is a domestic wheat processing tax of 15 cents a bushel which will not only bolster the board's finances directly but will help to restore prices, at least far as domestic consumption concerned.

The force itself was being increased from 2,450 to 2,950. The special officers were being added in railway guard duties and elsewhere.

These did not include a company of R.C.M.P. just recruited which is training at Regina for overseas and which will join the force on its return.

Discussion arose previous to passing an act amending the R.C.M.P. act in several minor respects.

Before any commercial use is made in advertising of trade marks of the likeness of a Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer, now, consent of the commission must be obtained and Acting Justice Minister Cardin indicated that consent would be hard to get.

"We want to stop that kind of advertising entirely," he said.

ROUMANIAN OIL SHIPMENTS WILL GO TO GERMANY

Bucharest.—Rumania tightened her grip on British and French oil properties in the rich Rumanian fields, by ordering expulsion of 12 French oil executives and promised increased deliveries for Germany's war machine.

The government order came amid reports that at least 22 oil company executives would be expelled, including additional Britons. Earlier this month 30 British oilmen and their families were ousted and Rumania seized the country's largest oil enterprise, the $15,000,000 Astrum-Romania Company, and took over its vast supplies of British produced oil.

The government action followed German claims that Allied documents had been found which disclosed a plot to sabotage the Rumanian oil industry rather than permit oil from this source to reach Germany.

The French group includes officials of the Colombia and Concordia corporations which produce 18 per cent of Rumania's total oil output.

Reports circulated that the government would requisition 60 British barges to augment the Danube river fleet for deliveries to the reich.

Official quarters promised to make every effort to deliver 200,000 tons this month.

Meanwhile, Rumania's Iron Guard King Carol a memorandum expressing an uncompromising opposition to any territorial concessions to Hungary and Bulgaria at a conference of Rumanian and German officials at Salsburg.

The Iron Guard said the Rumanian people would fight rather than surrender any part of Transylvania to Hungary or southern Dobruja to Bulgaria.

The Iron Guard, though supported and harbored by German Nazis during more than a year of blood purge against them by the former Rumanian government, are the most nationalistic group in this newly Nazified country.

Force Is Increased

1,500 Special Officers Join R.C.M.P. Since Beginning Of War

Ottawa.—In addition to 500 new uniformed men being added to the Royal Canadian Mounted police, that force had been expanded by 1,500 special officers since the beginning of the war, Acting Justice Minister Cardin said.

The force itself was being increased from 2,450 to 2,950. The special officers were being added in railway guard duties and elsewhere.

These did not include a company of R.C.M.P. just recruited which is training at Regina for overseas and which will join the force on its return.

Admission to the movies was by purchase of a minimum of two 25-cent war savings stamps.

Giving Splendid Support

Toronto.—W. E. Gordon, president of Purity Bread, Limited, said the retail price of bread would have to be slightly increased as a result of a 15-cent domestic processing tax per bushel of wheat.

Education standards in the Royal Canadian Air Force for wireless operators and air gunners have been reduced by one year. Previously, applicants were required to have junior matriculation to enter classes. Now, they are only required to show that they have successfully completed two high school years.

Threat of a shortage of school teachers may develop in Alberta, it was indicated when two or three rural inspectors were at the department of education summer school seeking teachers for the next term. Extent of the shortage will not be known definitely until nearing the fall term, but it is expected that any deficiency can be made up from the ranks of former teachers.

The Enterprise next week will have a number of booklets, profusely illustrated with pictures of fighting forces now engaged in the war. The 24-page booklet, entitled "Neptune," contains illustrations of German naval units which have been sunk or damaged, methods used to cope with mines, a map of British aerial penetration into Germany, and many more pictures of interest, highlighted by a beautiful 10 x 18 picture in color of British bombers taking off for a night raid on German air bases. The booklets are sent out by the British Ministry of Information. You can get a copy free by calling at The Enterprise office.

It was picked up later, and being identified by its contents, including his fishing permit, it was promptly returned to him at Hillcrest. It was valued at about $60.

In the past few days the Times office has been host to Ken King's tame magpie. It hasn't the slightest doubt of its welcome, and shows commendable interest in the printing business. A little training and it might be a useful "devil!" However, it has a deplorable taste for tobacco, and will clean out a stray pipe or consume the "mackings" with the appetite of an addict. Its tobacco consumption is appalling, with apparently no ill effects.—High River Times.

HOME TOWN LOYALTY

Remember that no outsider is going to help you build your town. Every time you give business to an outsider that can be as advantageous placed with your home town firm you are making the community poorer.

It is the local business houses who pay wages to local people, who pay the heaviest taxes, who are called on to subscribe to the various organizations and appeal for help.

We advise the customer who gives the home-towner a break. There are many little services and accommodations given that no outsider can or will give. Be loyal to your own community—for one good turn deserves another.
